

ULTRATHIN MAG POUCH

APPLICATION

For carrying the magazines to the main weapon. Particularly useful in CQB situations and, if necessary, concealed carry of magazines.

PROPERTIES

The structure is based on an elastic front wall. Thanks to this construction, the filled chambers are as small as possible, which facilitates the hidden transfer of content. The empty pouch is flat and smooth at the front, which significantly reduces the chance of hindrance, does not block the view and does not interfere with getting into the space beneath it. Magazines are held firmly and safely, yet nothing hinders the drawing. The difference in retention between specific systems is minimal and depends more on the texture and shape than the size of the magazine.
